

Dynamic Balance (ref Joanne Elphinston)

Good functional balance is important in all sports. A good test for assessing functional balance is to stand on one leg and turn the head from side to side, saying the days of the week out loud, making sure you aren't screwing up your toes. By turning the head, speaking and breathing, you are training your balance reactions without using non-functional bracing strategies.

